

Doing experiments

Some experiments studying quantum materials such as superconductors can be done in laboratories in the university.

These experiments often involve getting the material very cold, as this can make it easier to see what is going on. The data that comes out will be recorded on a computer, and a scientist will study the data to see what they can find out.

